

rolling of artillery, denoting tin* (Mutiny's near approach to th« capital.

The Emperor left Paris on the 1th of «funitary, at whieh time the Emperors of Russia and Austria and thf Kin>» <d' Prussia were assembled at Lanjjres. Napoleon ivjoini'd his Guard at Vitry-le-Fram;ais. On the seeund day aftrr his departure he drove before him the Prussian army, whieh In* had forced to evaluate St. Dizier. Two days aft»«r this the battle of Brienne was fought, and on the 1st of February between 70,000 and 80,000 Krench and Allied troops stoinl face to face. On this occasion the eomntanders mt both sides were exposed to personal danger, for Napoleon had a horse killed under him, and a (JosKuek fell dead by the side of Mur-shal Blueher.

A few days after this battle Na|»o!eon i'!iii*r«d Troves, when^ he staid but a short time, and ilin advum't^i to C)iampaubert. At the latter jdsiee w;» fought I In* Inittle which bears its name. Tin* RussiatiH wen* defeati-d, I tf*ni*ral AlsuiieffT was made* prisoner, and l^Mill mi*n ain! .'»o uunn IVII into the hands of the Fn'itc'JL At'ti'r this luill! th«* KujjHTor was under such a delusion an to his ttttatton that vvliih i*iiji-ping with Berthier, Marmont, itnd liis prisoiMT, fieiteml AlsufieffT, the KujjM*nir waid, " Anothi*r sueh vietorv iw thin, gentlem(»n, and I Hhail IH* <m the Vistula,'¹ Fiitiling that mi one re|>lied, and reading in th« (uiunti'tiUueeH of kin MurNhaln that they did not share his hopex, •• I net* h»w it |H.^M he uiiletl, "every one is growing tired of war; there is ii<» inort* entlm-siasiiL The nacml fire in extiriet," Tlien from tin* table, and stepping up in (general t>roiint, tin* intention of |>aying him at <H>in|.iHttit*itt wliit'li Hli«itiUt at tli>» same time eonvey a iwiHure on lln* Mar^hfilH, •M*«»n««iMI,^M said he, patting him on the sli«tililt*r_f  wt» n hundred men like you, and we uliiitiltl HtifwemL" UriMtut r»*|ilii*il, with great presf»rt!!i? of iitiml and modesty, **

nmj n
hundred thoiikaiid_f Hire," Thin aiii*iMliif« WON

li/iiii*
by the two principal IMTHOUH who wen* tin
tlm

ocean ion.

Napol(K>n soon !>egitti to liavi* cithi»r of